Soldiers and sailors of Barre (city and town) who served in the great war are reminded that their names must be in the hands of the committee by Saturday, June 28, in order to make sure of the names being on the honor roll to be placed on the victory arch on North Main street. The names must be reported to the city clerk's office or to the store of B. W. Hooker & Co. Relatives and friends of soldiers or sailors who may be away from home are urged to take this upon themselves and report the names. The committee is desirous of making the list as complete as possible and, therefore, it urgently requests co-operation of anyone who may have knowledge of the service men from Barre City or Town.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. R. Hall, who were married in this city last Friday were agreeably surprised on their return from a wedding trip last evening when on being invited to Worthen hall they were met by a party of nearly 100 of their friends, including many from Iroquois tribe, Red Men, and Daughters of Pocahontas. The affair was in the nature of a wedding reception and got off with a bang. During the course of an impromptu program, George Mowatt, on behalf of the assembly, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hall a handsome princess dresser. Mr. Hall responded in a pleasing manner for both himself and his wife. Numbers in the program which were thoroughly enjoyed were vocal solos by Mrs. Jeffrey and George Cormack. Cormack's orchestra furnished the brand of music that kept feet a-shuffling for the greater part of the night. James Freeland had charge of the floor. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, sandwiches and coffee were served. The committee who worked hard that the party might be a success was composed of the following: Mrs. Thomas Jeffrey, Mrs. Alice Regest, Mrs. Mary Angus, Mrs. Nellie Bianchi, Mrs. Annie Greig, Mrs. Rose Inglis, Mrs. Harry King, James Freeland, George Crichton and James Black.

Full of inspiration and crowded with memories is the June number of the Goddard Record, the paper published by the students of Goddard seminary; and alumni returning for the 50th anniversary of the founding of the school in Barre will find the pamphlet an excellent "log of the memory" as they sit down to think of the days when they were in school. The Record is dedicated to Principal O. K. Hollister and bears the picture of the veteran principal as the frontispiece, while many of the articles, chiefly written by graduates and former teachers, contain many tributes to the head of the school for nearly a quarter of a century. The writers of the articles include former Principal Arthur W. Peirce; Frank W. Durkee, '84; Ralph A. Stewart, '88; Elmond A. Burnham, '85; Florence E. Dean, '84; Evaline Darling Morgan, '92; Ira Rich Kent, '95; Mina M. Brown, a former teacher, Edith Talcott Webster, '99; Earle L. Waterman, '93; Blanche J. Tilden, '79; Mark C. Carpenter, '96; Charles H. Stone, a former teacher, Frank H. Towles, '10; Weston A. Cate, '13; Eliza C. Isam, a former teacher, Beulah S. Tillotson, '15; Fanny L. Martin, '18; and Charles H. Darling, president of the board of trustees. The pamphlet is probably the best from a typographical and printing standpoint of any yet turned out and is, altogether, a fine souvenir of the golden anniversary of the school.

ALL RACES REPRESENTED.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education Enrolls All Nationalities.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Varieties of occupation which are chosen by disabled men in training for re-education are equalled only by the varieties of their nationalities.

In any considerable group of cases dealt with by the federal board there will generally be found Poles, Bohemians, Lithuanians, Danes, French Canadians, Chinese, Indians and men of other racial stock. These men all fought with the U. S. army and were disabled. They are all equally entitled under the law to re-education free of cost to them, and they are choosing courses, adapted to their individual needs. Many of them have chosen first of all Americanization. After completing these they will in many cases take up training for some trade or profession.

Americanization plus vocational training makes of our one-time Wops, Japs and Greasers good and loyal American citizens.

The organizing agency for this sort of Americanization work is the federal board for vocational education with its central office in Washington, D. C., at 200 New Jersey avenue, and a string of 14 district offices scattered all over the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast—some of these district offices having several branch offices.

MONTPELIER

Annual Commencement Concert Was Held Last Evening.

The annual commencement concert of Montpelier seminary took place in the chapel of the institution Monday evening before an audience that taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium. The program was short and well arranged so that those attending had ample opportunity to see the quality of the training which each of those participating had received under the instruction of Miss Marion Bickford and Professor Gray in voice and piano. Each of the students gave a good account of his or her ability, handling their selections in an excellent manner that brought many words of commendation and praise after the program, as well as applause during the entertainment. Owing to the pipe organ breaking down, Miss Bliss was delayed in her organ selection but was able to play it later in the evening.

The program was: Chorus, "Serenade Triplet" (DeKoven), "Anvil Chorus" (Verdi); piano, "Toccata" (Chaminade), Bertha Blodgett; organ, "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" (Bach), Pearl Bliss; voice, "Until" (Coleridge-Taylor), "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star" (Wagner), Herbert Codling; piano, "Prelude" (Rachmaninoff), Jessie P. Sweet; voice, "From Grief I Cannot Measure" (Franz), "The Violet" (Mozart), Hazel S. Miles, '19; piano, duo, "Danse Macabre" (Saint-Saens), Jessie P. Sweet, Martha E. Miss Martha Aileen Kerin the Bride of Thomas M. Foley.

The marriage of Miss Martha Aileen Kerin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kerin, and Thomas Marcellus Foley of Montpelier occurred at St. Augustine's church at 9 o'clock this morning in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. J. Long, pastor of the church. They were attended by Miss Mary L. Kerin of Burlington and George P. Kerin of Montpelier, sister and brother of the bride, while the altar boys were Arthur Kerin, a brother, and Charles Kerin, a cousin of the bride. The ushers were Austin Kerin, brother of the bride, and Charles Goldbury, a close friend of the contracting parties. As the bride party entered the church Mrs. E. L. Callahan played Mendelssohn's wedding march, while the recessional march was "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Miss Emma Heney sang "Ave Maria" and "O Salutaris." Mrs. Callahan played soft music during the ceremony, including "Hymn." The bride was becomingly gowned in a blue satin suit and picture hat of sand color. She carried a gold rosary. Her maid wore a raisin shade satin gown, with hat to match, and carried an amethyst rosary. Following the wedding, the guests went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kerin at 8 Wilder street, where a buffet breakfast was served. Several members of the sodality serving. Mr. and Mrs. Foley received a large number of wedding presents, which included considerable money. The church was very tastefully decorated with cut flowers. Following the breakfast a reception to the guests occurred. Mr. and Mrs. Foley left by automobile for a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Montpelier. The groom is a native of Rutland, where he learned the machinist's trade. He has been employed by the Lane Manufacturing company for a few years as inspector of valves. He recently went to Newport and is similarly employed by the Boston & Maine Railroad company. The bride is a native of Waterbury, but lived many years in Montpelier. For some eight years she has lived in Montpelier, being employed in the office of the superintendent of agencies of the National Life Insurance company. They have a large circle of friends who have extended congratulations.

Several changes in the teaching staff of Montpelier seminary are to take place for the next school year. These include Miss Marion Bickford, in voice, who has resigned and will go to Lyndon to reside; Miss Robinson, who has been in the teacher training course; William Maiden, who recently resigned because he was unable to teach, owing to a throat trouble, while there are others who will not come back, including the election teacher, it is understood.

Although it was announced Sunday that the Burlington and Montpelier game would be played to-day, last night it was stated that Burlington could not arrange for the game. Burlington, according to the local team, has forfeited its chances for the championship in baseball, while Montpelier stands in a fair way to claim it.

Mr. and Mrs. James Goodwin, who have been visiting Sheriff and Mrs. F. H. Tracy, have gone to Lynn, Mass., for a visit before going back to their home in Oakland, Cal.

The state board of control will have a meeting here this week when the heads of departments in the state will give their estimates of salaries for those employed in the different departments. This is the regular meeting for consideration of these matters which occurred the end of the fiscal year. One year ago, when the report of a similar meeting took place, it raised quite a lot of discussion between the clerks in the different departments.

Adjutant General H. T. Johnson leaves this evening on a tour of visitation to the new companies of the Vermont National Guards. The machine gun company has been recruited in St. Albans, but the infantry company will not be at present. Rutland has completed its recruiting, while Bellows Falls and St. Johnsbury expect by the time the officers have reached these places to have the required number. The fourth infantry company has not been assigned, and Montpelier men are still going to make an effort, it is understood, to have a company. The matter will be under consideration at a meeting which takes place this week. Dove McMath was assigned to that work, but has given up the task.

Mr. Fenton was executive clerk during legislative session. Mr. Tillotson has recently returned from France, where he was in the army.
